Terminal Competency: - Physiotherapists and Physical Therapists (PTs) work within a wide variety of health settings to improve a broad range of physical problems associated with different 'systems' of the body. In particular they treat neuromuscular (brain and nervous system), musculoskeletal (soft tissues, joints and bones), cardiovascular and respiratory systems (heart and lung and associated physiology).

Physiotherapists work autonomously, often as a member of a team with other health or social care professionals. Physiotherapy practice is characterised by reflective behaviour and systematic clinical reasoning, both contributing to and underpinning a problem-solving approach to patient-centric care.

People are often referred for physiotherapy by doctors or other health and social care professionals. Increasingly, as a result of changes in health care, people are referring themselves directly to physiotherapists (first-line access) without previously seeing any other health care professional. Trends in Canada and Australia, for example, are even exploring the role of the physiotherapist within the triage system of emergency departments

We have a post training placement assistance wing through which we help the trainees to get their own jobs. To ensure prolonged benefits of support service we hold interactive sessions on employment scopes every two months for six months post training with beneficiaries unable to establish themselves and accordingly submit feedback reports to the concerned authority.

Steps of wage Placement-

- Prepare data bank of beneficiary.
- Conduct counseling of beneficiaries to identify who are interested for wage employment/ who are interested for self-employment, and who are not interested at present because of higher studies or personal problem.
- Accordingly, we collect C.V from all beneficiaries
- We send C.V of the beneficiaries to the Employer from our Employer's Bank
- Employer conduct interview and select the candidate.
- Later the employer confirm appointment and intimate the candidate and us.

Support for Self-Employment:

As we have seen that most of the trainees are not confident of starting their individual units immediately after training and require loan. We give the name of Govt. agency who gives loan at subsidized rate or loan at a very low interest. We give all support like filling of form, prepare project proposal and other relevant formalities.
